I was born in Fairbanks and spent the first half of my childhood in North Pole. I moved to Anchorage in 8th grade where I attended Wendler Middle School and the "School Within a School" at Betty Davis East Anchorage High School.

After high-school I joined the Alaska Air National Guard where I maintained computers and loaded planes while attending UAA. At UAA I earned my degree in Biology and a minor in Spanish. I worked as a lab assistant and as a nurse's assistant at the Alaska Psychiatric Institute before moving across the country to Buffalo, New York.

I earned my law degree in Buffalo and returned home to Alaska to begin my career. I worked in Kenai for 18 months as a law clerk before transitioning to the Anchorage District Attorney's Office. A year later I moved to the Office of Special Prosecutions where I presently handle Cybercrime.
