Name: Margaret Paton Walsh

Position(s) for which you wish to be considered:

Alaska Supreme Court

Date: July 22, 2022

I was born and raised in the UK and came to the US after college to pursue graduate studies in American history. I taught college history for a number of years before deciding on a mid-life career change to the law. I came to Alaska for the summer after my first year in law school and immediately knew that I had found my home. I moved to Alaska after graduation and joined the Attorney General's Office after clerking for a year.

I have represented many state agencies in federal and state court litigation ranging from employment disputes to election cases to constitutional challenges to state statutes and executive branch action.

When I'm not working, I love to fish, kayak, and scuba dive.
